

In regards to the Federal Do Not Call List. The more and more I think about it the angrier I get. Americans are lazy and spoiled. Telephone companies came out with caller ID. The Do Not Call List takes away jobs, that is it. If you want to be an adult learn to make a decision and just say no thank you and hang up. You have that right, just like they should have the right to call you. People do have the right to call the company, but they don't they procrastinate and drag their feet. So, companies should be allowed to call maybe the caller will have a good idea, maybe not, but you are holding the phone and you make the decision to keep it to your ear or put it back on the cradle!
